

Low Code Framework Helps You Create Unlimited Web Apps

Your enterprise systems will never cover every enterprise requirement. This is especially true in an environment where rapid change is the norm. This is why end users often take matters into their own hands and create spreadsheets or databases that help them better manage their business functions. It has also become easier than ever for business users to spin up cloud tools to help them collaborate with their business partners. In many cases, these spreadsheets and cloud tools have become mini-systems, and major decisions are made from them every day. However, none of these options equate to a strategy. More and more, enterprises are recognizing the need for an application framework that allows them to roll out apps quickly, but in a coordinated, strategic way.

The screenshot displays a web application interface with a top navigation bar and a main data grid. The grid is titled 'MD Costing/RFQs - View: 2 Level' and contains columns for Row Status, Product#, Description, Image, ProdType, Division, Vendor, ProjectedUnits, Price, FOB, LDP, IMU, DutyHTS, Duty%, and DutyCost. A 'Request' sub-grid is also visible, showing columns for Row Status, #, Scenario, Selected, CostDate, Status, Factory, COO, TargetPrice, CMCost, TIMatCost, CalcFOB, FOB, DutyFree, Duty$, MiscCost, and LDP. An image of a boat's interior is shown in a preview window. The interface includes various filters and a search icon.
