

Suzanne Johnson Bio

Suzanne Johnson is an Application Specialist with more than 18 years of experience helping businesses streamline operations through smarter technology. She started her career in retail, becoming a store manager at just 19, before moving into apparel manufacturing to learn the industry from the inside out.

Along the way, Suzanne found her niche: making complex systems easy to use. Whether recommending process improvements, training teams, or testing new solutions, she's passionate about helping people work more efficiently and confidently.

Today, at Singletree Technologies, Suzanne partners with clients across multiple industries to implement and optimize Intellimas and other enterprise applications. Her enthusiasm for problem-solving and continuous learning makes her a trusted guide in the ever-changing world of technology.

